Railroad Labor Proposes McAdoo First, With Smith as Second Choice To Forestall Third Party Ticket

Definite Overtures Made to Leaders, Statement to Be Issued Shortly.

All Others Declared To Be Objectionable

Brotherhood Heads Said to Have Assurance That If Either McAdoo or Smith Is Nominated LaFollette Will Not Enter Field as Candidate.

Special Dispatch by David Lawrence Copyright, 1924, by The Courier. MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—Definite overtures have been made by railroad labor to leaders of the Democratic party assembled here to nominate the type of candidate who will make it unnecessary for a third party to be formed at Cleveland. Six railway unions and a score of other locals have shared a statement shortly to be issued which lists practically all but two of the men before the convention as objectionable in the sense that their nomination could not prevent the entrance into the contest of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The first choice of the railroad group is William Gibbs McAdoo and it is proposed that if he is named, Senator LaFollette will not run. The spokesmen for labor say they can state this with authority.

The second choice appears to be Governor Al Smith of New York, though the petition will not say so in as many words. While McAdoo is preferred, the candidacy of Al Smith is said to be acceptable. His name does not appear in the list which will be issued.

For several weeks it has been apparent that the conference for progressive political action which has its convention scheduled for July 4 at Cleveland comprised a Democratic and Republican section. The railroad brotherhoods led by Warren S. Stone are friendly to McAdoo and if he should be named by the Democrats a serious effort has always been expected to have the next Cleveland convention endorse him. Now coming to wait, the railroad labor leaders are beginning to show their hand before the contest here actually starts.

Through the statement will not be issued in all probability until a climax comes in the balloting.

The railroad brotherhoods are understood to take the view that as between President Coolidge and a Democratic candidate expressly favorable to their viewpoint, all forces should concentrate on the support of a Democratic ticket.

But there are Democrats here who take the opposite view. They want a third party in the field, believing that such a contingency might split the Republican party this year as in 1912 and thus insure Democratic success.

The friends of the conservative candidates in the field have said all along that with LaFollette running, a Democratic candidate would be the beneficiary provided he was not a radical. They have argued that a radical Democrat would win only the radical Democratic votes while the radical Republican votes would still go to LaFollette and that even the Wisconsin Senator didn't run the combined radical vote of the Republican and Democratic parties would not be sufficient to assure victory for a Democrat.

However that may be, the railway unions have taken a hand in the struggle. The campaign between the candidates continues without much change. The so-called best vote adjustment Thursday has been upset by the statement of some delegations which record with McAdoo and some who did not that they will be found in another column when the balloting starts and that their votes last night simply indicated their personal confidence on the question of a night session.

Louisiana with 20 votes voted with the McAdoo forces, for instance, but will probably be for Governor Smith. Virginia with 24 votes wanted a chance to have Carter Glass nominated before a body of rested delegates, but is friendly to McAdoo. The Philippine delegation, with six votes, were in conference with McAdoo when an alternate cast the ballot with the anti-McAdoo generals on the floor of the convention. Nebraska is favorable to McAdoo but voted with the anti-McAdoo group to avoid a night session.

All in all the first ballot shows only that the McAdoo claims of around 500 votes are not exaggerated and that he may have more.

The fight now is against time with the anti-McAdoo strategists trying to prolong the convention so that Al Smith sentiment may have more chance to permeate the minds of the delegates as unquestionably when they mingle with the populace here they find almost unanimous enthusiasm for him.

The platform fight is dragging out and it now looks as if the committee will not be ready before nightfall and that the debate will take most of Continued on Page Six.

Fight Over Hooded Band Is Expected To Reach Climax Tonight

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—The bitter fight on the Klan issue, which for two days has been kept under cover in the executive session of the resolutions committee, may be dragged into the open tonight when the Democratic National Convention meets for an evening session.

Leaders have definitely agreed to process after all nominating speeches are made this afternoon until 5 P. M. One of the first demands will be for a report from the resolutions committee and if the committee is ready its platform may be presented along with minority reports. If the Klan and League planks are still in the making roll calls may be started for presidential nominations.

In other event the first real test of strength will come between the McAdoo and Smith factions, but opportunity for an even more vital test will be afforded when the Klan and anti-Klan forces mix in discussion of the platform.

A fight on the convention floor over the Klan was made certain this afternoon when the sub-committee voted 10 to 4 to submit a plank to the full committee denouncing the principles of the Klan but not naming it. The minority demanding that the full committee last night alternate planks. The full committee could not agree and the effort must now continue to effect a compromise.

A floor fight on the League is also certain. Former Secretary of War Baker will not consent to any change in the proposal that the League be endorsed and that the party be pledged to America's entrance. The sub-committee is presenting this question to the full committee but Baker declared that if his plank is not adopted as it stands he will make a minority report and take the floor to fight for its principles.

Those placed in nomination today were James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, and Governor Silzer of New Jersey. Bryan of Nebraska and Brown of New Hampshire.

J. F. T. O'Connor of North Dakota made a plan against the raising of any religious or racial issues in this campaign and seconded the nomination of McAdoo. His plan, with point of reference to the fight centered on the Klan issue, was loudly cheered and applauded.

"We shall meet it as Democracy always meets its issues," he said. "We are for the freedom of religious worship, freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the right of peaceful assembly. I am opposed in the name of the soldiers and sailors who sleep in peaceful silence, either in the soil or under the waters, and in their name I want to say I condemn the order known as the Ku Klux Klan."

A great shout went up. Hats were thrown in the air; women waved hands and New Jersey started a march around the hall. Pennsylvania and Rhode Island also joined in the demonstration.

Mrs. Carroll Miller of Pennsylvania was next recognized.

My father's family were Methodists, she began. "My mother was a Presbyterian and I married an Episcopalian. Some of my best friends are Jews. My oldest son was born in Japan in the shadow of a Buddhist temple.

"And here I have the privilege of seconding the name of a man who worships God in still another form. During the World War we were neither Jew nor Gentile, Catholic nor Protestant. I second the nomination of Al Smith."

Edmunds for the South Side and Smith and George of the West Side, each had doubles. O'Hara, on the mound for the defeated team had nine strikeouts and Colborn of the West Side had eight. Next Tuesday's games have been postponed until Wednesday on account of the circus.

Three Undergo Operations. Jack and Edna Smith of Anyville and Beatrice Smith of West Newton underwent throat operations at the Connellsville State Hospital this morning.

LEADERS FEARFUL KLAN ISSUE WILL SPLIT PARTY OPEN

Every Effort Will Be Made by Committee to Keep Fight Off Floor.

LEAGUE ALSO BOTHERSOME

By United Press. NEW YORK, June 27.—The resolutions committee of the Democratic convention today swung into its third day of labor in an attempt to draft planks covering the Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations. So bitter has the Klan situation become that leaders desire to avert a fight on the floor of the convention at all costs. Dragging the Klan debate to the floor, it is recognized, might split the party wide open.

Advocates of a strong endorsement of entrance into the League of Nations are equally insistent with anti-Klan leaders that such a league plank be adopted. As a result of the delicate situation the full resolutions committee voted at 3:30 A. M. today to turn the task of drafting planks to cover the two issues back to the sub-committee which worked most of Wednesday and Thursday drawing up the platform. The numbers could not agree on the Klan and league planks, hence they submitted to the full committee last night alternate planks. The full committee could not agree and the effort must now continue to effect a compromise.

As the members of the resolutions committee trooped warily to their hotel rooms just before dawn today the convention was but little nearer agreement on the Klan issue than several days back when the question of the stand that would be taken on the hooded order first came crackling about the ears of the convention leaders.

One faction demands open denunciation of the Klan by name. A second would declare for religion, freedom and democracy in general terms. With respect to the league one faction demands that the party be committed to America's entrance in event of Democratic victory. Another would endorse the league in principle but would make no commitment without a national referendum.

LaFollette Angles For Old Populists

CHICAGO, June 27.—A call summoning supporters of the old Populist party of the nineties to the "third party" political convention here July 1 was issued today by LaFollette supporters. It was a move in the program by the conference for progressive political action sponsoring the third party meeting to unite all progressive groups behind Senator LaFollette in his independent race for the presidency.

The call was issued by W. H. Bennington, one of the leaders of the Populist movement in Kansas, where the party was born.

Do not write the War or Navy departments for any information required by the blank. If the individual has not the information, supply it at best he can from memory. Inquiries to Washington would only serve to delay the case by a double search of the records which would be involved.

The coming community picnic of the Bishop Post, an annual affair, will also be brought up.

Radiuses at Crawford Avenue and Arch Street Will Make Travel Easier

Preparations are now under way, it was said today, to make the traffic situation at the corner of Arch street and West Crawford avenue an easier one. The corners on the northern side of Crawford avenue will be cut away, making a wider radius for the purpose of allowing vehicles greater freedom.

At present it is both difficult and dangerous to cut around the corner from Arch street into the east approach of the Youghiogheny River bridge. A big machine swings out the left hand side of the street and there have been a number of close calls.

In order to provide for the new radius the West Penn will remove two poles, one now located in each corner, back several feet. As soon as this is done the city will have a contractor complete the job.

The situation at the intersection of the streets is a peculiar one as they do not cross squarely. This prevents drivers of vehicles from rounding the corners with the precision they may exercise at usual road crossings. It also makes the position of the traffic officer a dangerous one. He has to keep a line back and forth to escape the fenders of machines. Once, however, the improvement is made, it will be a big asset to the safety of both motorists and pedestrians.

The establishment of a new radius at the corner was talked of a few years ago but never materialized.

The Weather. Fair tonight; Saturday partly cloudy; probably showers in afternoon and tonight; is the noon weather forecast for Western Pennsylvania.

Temperature Record. 1924 1923. Maximum ———— 80 55. Minimum ———— 62 60. Mean ———— 76 74. The Yough River fell during the night from 125 feet to 115 feet.

Denouncing Klan by Name Issue That Overshadows All Else in Convention

McAdoo Forces Manoeuvring to Delay Settlement Until After Voting.

SMALL CROWD OUT TODAY

Galleries Only Partly Filled When Chairman Walsh Sounds Call for Order; Minnesota Delegate Secures Nomination of Smith and Gets Hand

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, June 27.—The Ku Klux Klan as a political issue completely dominated the Democratic convention as the delegates gathered for the fourth session of their meeting here today.

Was the sub-committee of the resolutions committee was gathering near the Garden for another attempt to draft a plank on the Klan and on the League of Nations that might be acceptable to the convention, it was evident that everything is now turning upon the question of whether the Klan shall be denounced by name.

The forces of William G. McAdoo are endeavoring to bring about a situation similar to that which developed in 1904 when Alton B. Parker was nominated. They hoped to continue their fight within the resolutions committee against naming the Klan long enough to force balloting in the convention for presidential nominees.

Chairman Walsh called the convention to order at 11:41. The galleries were only partly filled when quiet was obtained and Walsh introduced Rev. Wylie, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of New York, to deliver the invocation.

As the convention got under way it was noted that George Brannan, Ed Moore, Thomas Taggart and others of the anti-McAdoo forces were not in their seats. After a few announcements by the secretary the call of the roll of the states for nominations and seconds was resumed.

Minnesota led off in the person of William J. Quinn of St. Paul who seconded the nomination of Al Smith. Quinn told a big hand in nominating Smith's name and there were whistles, cheers, applause and the inevitable hand.

The roll call was resumed and Mississippi yielded to Ohio. There was an outburst of applause as it was realized that the standard bearer of four years ago is about to be placed in nomination again. Newton D. Baker mounted the platform and virtually all the delegations on the floor rose to their feet and cheered. From the fact that Mississippi yielded to Ohio and that Senator Van Harrison of Mississippi, the keynoter, was one of the Cox floor leaders at San Francisco four years ago, it was believed generally that Harrison has decided to line up with Cox again.

Baker's speech nominating Cox was frequently interrupted by hand clapping. His first mention of the League of Nations brought a sharp outburst of cheering, and finally one after another the delegations, with the exception of Wisconsin rose to their feet and applauded.

Baker denounced the Klan and brought a number of delegations to their feet but it was not anything like the tempestuous outbreak of two days ago when the Klan was named for the first time before the convention.

William H. Maloney of Montana made a seven-word seconding speech for Smith. He said "I second the nomination of Governor Smith."

Governor Samuel Stewart of Montana then took the platform and seconded the nomination of McAdoo.

Delegate Sullivan of Nebraska placed in nomination a Charles C. Bryan and there started another demonstration. Delegations from Nebraska, Montana, Oregon, Georgia and Florida joined in a parade.

The nomination of Governor W. J. Silzer of New Jersey was the signal for a demonstration which threatened to be a close rival of the McAdoo and Smith tumultuous uproars. Bands, glee clubs, drum corps and other musical outfits headed a parade in which the New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Illinois delegations took part. Over half an hour elapsed before the marchers returned to their sections and quiet was again restored.

It was testified that the engineer of the train noted the usual warning some distance from the crossing and that the truck was being driven along the road in such a position that the approaching train could have been seen. However, the driver appeared not to be looking in that direction and evidently did not see the train until it was upon them.

Mrs. John Darrall and George Leachko witnessed the accident. Other witnesses were Mrs. Louis Burnworth, Mrs. Andrew Darrall and G. R. Johnson of Pittsburgh, engineer of the passenger train.

It was most unusual that Leachko remarked to several companions who with him, noticed the approach of the truck, that it would be hit by the train. Leachko testified that the first warning whistle was sounded about 1,000 feet from the crossing.

On the jury were Mrs. Kittell, Mrs. Dolan, Mrs. Newcomer, Harry Whitby and Frank Peck.

Mrs. J. J. Barnhart of Buffalo, N. Y., who was confined to her bed at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson of that city, Mrs. Barnhart has been in poor health for some time past.

Deaths of Ash and Prestia Boys Held Accidental

Neither the Pennsylvania Railroad Company nor its employees were held responsible for the accident on June 17 at Percy crossing which snuffed out the lives of Justin Ash and Flora Prestia of Connellsville, according to the finding of a coroner's jury which yesterday heard Coroner S. A. Balis bring out the facts surrounding the double death.

It was testified that the engineer of the train noted the usual warning some distance from the crossing and that the truck was being driven along the road in such a position that the approaching train could have been seen. However, the driver appeared not to be looking in that direction and evidently did not see the train until it was upon them.

Mrs. John Darrall and George Leachko witnessed the accident. Other witnesses were Mrs. Louis Burnworth, Mrs. Andrew Darrall and G. R. Johnson of Pittsburgh, engineer of the passenger train.

It was most unusual that Leachko remarked to several companions who with him, noticed the approach of the truck, that it would be hit by the train. Leachko testified that the first warning whistle was sounded about 1,000 feet from the crossing.

On the jury were Mrs. Kittell, Mrs. Dolan, Mrs. Newcomer, Harry Whitby and Frank Peck.

Mrs. J. J. Barnhart of Buffalo, N. Y., who was confined to her bed at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson of that city, Mrs. Barnhart has been in poor health for some time past.

Lyman Strickler, Civil War Vet Celebrates His 81st Birthday

The pretty country home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman S. Strickler near East Conneltsville was the scene of an unusually delightful party given yesterday afternoon to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Mr. Strickler, a veteran of the Civil War and one of the most widely known residents of the community in which he resides. Members of the William F. Kurts Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, with which Mr. Strickler is affiliated, relatives and neighbors of the Strickler family were in attendance and all report a general good time. Mr. Strickler was 81 years old on January 23 last, but because of unfavorable weather conditions the party was postponed until summer and a more ideal day could not have been desired for the occasion. The party will be remembered by all the guests as one of the most enjoyable social functions they ever attended. The comrades and other guests were graciously received by Comrade and Mrs. Strickler and daughter, Miss Ella, who proved themselves to be charming host and hostesses. The Strickler home was turned over to the guests for the afternoon and was appropriately decorated for the occasion. The large porch was made attractive by decorations carried out in the patriotic colors, red, white and blue, while a large flag was suspended across the beautiful lawn.

The attractive program presented during the afternoon was presided over by Comrade W. P. Clark, one of the "Americans" rendered by the guests, was the opening number. Comrade Clark then told of the purpose of the party, after which Comrade Strickler was congratulated upon the occasion, the guests wishing him many more happy birthdays. He responded, extending a hearty welcome to his guests. The comrades were then called upon to give a five minute speech. Virtually all responded. Clark Collins spoke on "What the Grand Army Has Done for This Country." William H. Shaw gave a brief history of the Grand Army. Talks by other veterans were appropriate to the occasion. The guests were then entertained with a reading, "Where Mother Bred," by Miss Bertha Leichter. Mrs. William Arson of Tower Hill No. 2, a niece of Comrade and Mrs. Strickler, gave a humorous reading, "What's the Use of Bibles." The next speaker was Rev. George Walker Buckner, pastor of the Christian Church. He gave a most interesting talk on the events which brought about the Civil War, pointing out that the invention of the cotton gin was one of the most important factors contributing to the rebellion. One of the most delightful features of the program were several violin solos by Mr. Strickler, accompanied on the organ by his daughter, Miss Ella. At the conclusion of the program the guests assembled on the lawn where Miss Caroline Leichter of Keister, appearing in Scottish costume, gracefully danced the Highland Fling. She was greatly applauded and responded with a comic song, "The Goat."

An elaborate dinner, deliciously prepared by Mrs. Strickler and her daughter, was served at one long table in the dining room. The menu consisted of chicken, gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, salad, home-made pickles, jelly, cheese, rolls, cake, pumpkin pie, coffee and candy. The appointments were significant of the Fourth of July and were carried out in a most effective manner. The table was covered with a vase of roses in Swedish colors, while the favors were streamers. Attached to each was a match tied with red, white and blue ribbon. The napkins were of patriotic design, being embellished with a picture of George Washington and his home at Mount Vernon.

Following the dinner Colonel James J. Barnhart sang "Boots and Saddles," after which by request he sang "The Old Woman Who Lived Under the Hill." This is a favorite song of the comrades and never fails to bring forth much applause. Colonel Barnhart made a motion that a vote of thanks be extended Comrade Strickler and family for their generous hospitality and the fine dinner which they all so greatly enjoyed. Charles H. Hill seconded the motion and it was unanimously carried. Comrade Strickler enjoys good health considering his advanced years and put forth every effort possible to see that his comrades and guests had a good time.

Guests present were Comrade W. P. Clark, Colonel James J. Barnhart, Captain Edmund Dunn, William H. Shaw, John Robinson, J. E. Jones, Clark Collins, Charles H. Hill, Charles H. Wadley, A. S. Hindcock, members, and James G. Hicks, an honorary member of the Post. Mrs. John Hoop and daughter, Miss Della, of Beaver Falls, Mrs. William Arson of Tower Hill No. 2, Miss Caroline Leichter, of Keister; Misses Bertha and Hazel Leichter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kimmel, Charles Strickler and family, all of East Conneltsville; Mrs. Eliza Campbell and granddaughter, Mrs. John Kimmel and little daughter, Loma Ellen, Rev. George W. Buckner, C. A. Anasowsky of The News, and Miss Lynne Knoch, a daughter of the Post, of The Courier.

Japanese Tea at Madras Hall.
Members of the Catholic Daughters of America were delightfully entertained at a Japanese tea of beautiful appointments given last night in Madras Hall, West Side. Snyder, Miss Mary Friel, Miss Irwin, Mrs. Anna Irwin, Miss Margaret Irwin, Mrs. A. V. Corrado, Mrs. James DeOre, Mrs. Ellen Graham and Mrs. Helen Lavery. The tea tables, attractively decorated, were arranged on either side of the hall.

A Japanese playlet was a feature of the evening. The cast was composed of Mrs. John Duggan, Jr., Miss Ann Coyne, Mrs. William Harry, Miss Veronica Nolan and Mrs. Frank Desnoes. They appeared in Oriental costume and each portrayed her role in a very capable manner. The decorations were especially attractive. A large rug of beautiful design was placed in the center of the room, while beautiful floor lamps, roses, ferns and palms added beauty to the scene. Miss Mary Friel gave a reading dedicated to the missionaries who went to Japan. Vocal solos were delightfully rendered by Miss Jennie O'Connor, Mrs. A. V. Corrado and Mrs. William Harry. Music was rendered by the Knights of Columbus orchestra. Dainty refreshments were served. A brief business meeting was held previous to the social gathering.

Diseases traced to constipation are many—got permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it clouds your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran. And only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective in relieving constipation.

ALL bran—Kellogg's—strikes clean and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the intestine function naturally and regularly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic case of constipation—is guaranteed.

To do so, your grocer returns your money.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like the wonderful Kellogg's bran—so crisp and nut-like—so different from ordinary bran, which is most unpalatable.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. And by all means try it in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

WONDERFUL GROWTH IN PRODUCTION BY ELECTRIC PLANTS

During Four Years, 1919-1923, Inclusive the Gain Was 43 Per Cent.

WATER POWER DECREASED

The Interior Department through its Geological Survey, has just published a summary of the annual production of electricity and the consumption of fuel by electric public-utility power plants for the years 1919 to 1923 inclusive. This report comprises 16 tables, which show for each year the trend during the last four years in the production of electricity by the use of water power and by the use of fuel and the trend in the consumption of coal, oil, and gas in producing electricity.

The information in the tables is based on reports showing the monthly production at about 4,000 public-utility power plants engaged in producing electricity for public use. The capacity of the generators of these plants at present is nearly 18,000,000 horsepower or about 24,000,000 horse-power.

In 1919 the electricity generated for public use amounted to about 29 billion kilowatt-hours. In 1923, it amounted to 55.7 billion kilowatt-hours—an increase of over 43 per cent in four years.

The increase in efficiency in the use of fuel at public-utility power plants during these four years has been remarkable. In 1919 a ton of coal produced 825 kilowatt-hours of electricity. In 1923 a ton of coal produced 835 kilowatt-hours, an increase in efficiency in the utilization of fuel of 2.3 per cent. This gain in efficiency has made our electricity cost us no more now than before the war.

In 1919 the electricity produced by the use of water for public-utility power plants in the United States was 37.5 per cent of the total. This percentage gradually decreased to 33.8 per cent in 1923, so that water-power development is apparently not holding its own with steam-power development. The quantity of power produced at water-power plants depends directly on the quantity of water available, and a year of more than normal water supply throughout the United States would undoubtedly increase considerably the production of electricity at water-power plants, and thereby increase the ratio.

In 1923 about 19.1 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity was produced by the use of water power. To have produced this quantity of power by the use of fuel would have required 23.4 million tons of coal, which would have cost considerably more than $100,000,000.

The relative standing of the seven states that lead in production of electricity has remained the same for the last four years. New York is first, with nearly 16 per cent of the total for the United States; Pennsylvania is second, with nearly 10 per cent; and California is third, with a little more than nine per cent.

In the production of electricity by the use of water power California ranked first from 1921 to 1923, with 21 to 22 per cent of the total for the United States. New York, which ranked first in 1920, is now second, with about 18 per cent of the total for the United States.

In the production of electricity by the use of fuel three states in 1920 were New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, ranking in the order named. In 1923, Ohio's place was taken by Illinois.

In the consumption of oil for production of electricity California ranked first in 1920, with 43 per cent of the total for the United States, while Texas was second with about 22 per cent. In 1923 California was first with a little over 22 per cent, and Texas was second with about 21 per cent. Rhode Island, which ranked eighth in 1920, advanced to third place in 1923.

Mountains Iron Ore in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (By mail to United Press).—That Brazil should manufacture her own steel has been the contention of persons interested in the country's internal development, but when the Siderurgica Commission appointed by the Brazilian government to study the feasibility of making Brazil a steel producing country, recommended that the iron and steel industry in this country should be entirely in the hands of Brazilian citizens—engineers, exporters, contractors, unanimously affirmed that the "Steel Age," as far as Brazil was concerned, was far off.

As far back as 1888, Sir Richard Burton, in his book, "The Highlands of Brazil," called attention to the vast ore deposits in the country. Quite recently Professor Oliver C. Farrington of the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago, in a report to his institution after a trip through Minas Geraes, called attention to the great mountains of iron abounding in that region. This region is probably the richest in the world in iron ore, but its inaccessibility has caused its resources to remain undeveloped.

Most of the Brazilian papers think that members of the commission floundered through a mass of theory and failed to take the practical side of the question into account.

It is generally thought that the recommendation to the effect that the industry be kept strictly in the hands of Brazilian investors is due solely to the fear of Percival Farquhar, an American capitalist, now in Rio, trying to obtain a concession for the exploitation of the deposits in Minas Geraes. Most of the land containing mineral wealth in the State of Minas Geraes is in the hands of British capitalists, who have not yet seen fit to develop the industry.

CONVENTION DEMONSTRATIONS.

The demonstrations in the Democratic convention which lasted for one hour when McAdoo's name was placed in nomination and one hour and 20 minutes when Smith's name was presented, show how foolishly ordinary and sensible men can be under certain circumstances.

That hundreds of men would mill around the floor of the convention hall, wildly waving flags, yelling, cheering and howling themselves hoarse and making an ear-splitting racket and din, to the accompaniment of bands and noise-making devices of all kinds, is a spectacle to be seen nowhere else than at a very great party convention where there is keen rivalry between candidates and their enthusiastic supporters.

The artificiality of these demonstrations is so apparent that they look no more than those who participate in them. The McAdoo and Smith outbursts were plainly endurance contests, the promoters of the latter being determined to surpass the record of the former in point of time consumed and the volume and variety of the clamor produced.

In neither case was a single delegate influenced by these noisy inane manifestations to change his support from Smith to McAdoo or the reverse.
 It is highly probable that, instead of diverting support from these candidates, the rival displays had the effect of making the following of each more determined to stick by their favorite.
 There have been conventions in which a stampede of a candidate has been started by such a method but in more recent years it has been found that delegates are much less panicky than formerly.

Such methods seem, however, to have become a fixture at the national conventions. Delegates and others in attendance would very likely feel that they had not received their money's worth if this feature were lacking. Americans dearly love ex-citation and diversion. The convention demonstration supplies this need so completely that it is very likely to be retained by subsequent conventions as a means of giving vent to enthusiasm, both real and manufactured, and to provide the "show" features which, more than the political issues involved, tend to make the quadrennial party gatherings popular.

Apparently by common consent the rooster has been supplanted by the buzzard as the emblem of the Democratic party.

The Democratic convention orators all seem to be tongue-tied in their pronouncement of the name of Doherty and strangely silent in ascribing to this former "good angel" of the party treasury the paramount virtues other party celebrities possess to the exclusion of all other citizens.

While the tumult of the McAdoo demonstration was coming in over the White House radio, President Coolidge was taking a nap in his armchair. This incident ought to stir
 "Paw" to a new "keynote" about
 "the spirit of the White House."

It is becoming more and more probable that the Democratic "dark horse" will be a "roll rough driver," instead of a high-powered, streamline, Coolidge model limousine.

Let the Democrats raise all the pandemonium they like at the convention. There would be any occasion for them to "demonstrate" after November 4.

Until one reads the "keynote" and nominating speeches at the Democratic convention it has never occurred to the average citizen that the Almighty has been so partial in His scheme of creation as to make so many salient Democrats and so few decent Republicans.

The ability of Pennsylvania Democrats to be on all sides of every question in every campaign was given new proof by the state delegation joining in both the McAdoo and the Smith demonstrations in Madison Square Garden.

The German "Song of Hate" has nothing on the Democratic "keynotes."

It is a safe bet that the wizards of the Klan will get the Democratic gleamed before the convention fowl drawing is completed.

Strange that the Democratic orators have overlooked Doherty in compiling their catalogue of party chiefs.

With all the oratory and tumult at the convention there are many anxious inquiries from other sections as to how the harangues are able to keep their whistle wet while in the desert of Manhattan.

Will the Democratic convention prove to be a Doherty for McAdoo and give him a rout?

The dictionary makers will have to build a few new adjectives for use by the Democrats in paying their respects to the Republican administration and party. The supply now in use has been worn threadbare by the "keynoters."

 of Delegates of the American Medical Thirty-four serious cases, five of

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

WHEN A BOY IS TWELVE YEARS OLD.

When a boy is twelve years old,
 Brown of cheek and bright of eye,
 He knows little thought to gold,
 Or the dangers lurking by.
 All he thinks of is to run
 Just as fast as legs can go;
 Life is just one round of fun,
 And he's glad that it is so.

There's a thrill in climbing trees,
 Walking fence rails, jumping across,
 Doing things with daring ease.
 Which old age too dangerous deems
 Then he follows every whim,
 Unrestrained by fears we know,
 Chasing dragons for life or limb,
 And he's glad that it is so.

When a boy is twelve years old,
 He is keen and brave and bold,
 Free from all foreboding black,
 A must walk with cautious care,
 Feeding many a fall or blow,
 It is a lot more everywhere
 And he's glad that it is so.

Age with many a doubt is filled,
 Age feels duty's harsh restraint,
 Age must serve where care has willed
 Without whimpering or complaint.
 But a boy is free to run,
 Seeking pleasure high or low,
 Thinking life one round of fun,
 And he's glad that it is so.

JACOB M. DICK, FORMER FAYETTE COUNTIAN, DIES

End Comes at Home of Son in Kansas at the Age of 72 Years.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, June 27.—Word has been received here of the death of Jacob M. Dick in May at Baldwin City, Kan. Mr. Dick was born in Fayette county September 21, 1852. He was married to Adella O. Myers November 6, 1876, and to this union were born six sons, two of whom died in infancy, and another, Walter G., at Pleasantville, Kan., August 7, 1913. Mrs. Dick died February 21, 1897. The surviving members of the family are: Rev. A. W. Dick, Baldwin City, John T. Dick, California, Pa.; Rev. Charles E. Dick, Hoxie, Kan. Mr. Dick was married to Martha Walker on July 4, 1888, and to this union two children were born: Frank Dick of Uniontown and Emma Dick of Martinsburg, W. Va. Mrs. Martha Dick has also died.

Mr. Dick went to Kansas in 1891 and soon afterward settled on a government homestead in Rooks county, in November, 1892. In 1893 he moved to Arkansas where he remained 11 years. In failing health he returned to Kansas, where he lived with his two sons until his death, with the exception of one year he spent with his brother, Peter S. Dick of Joliet, Ill. He was converted early in life and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and remained a member until his death.

The funeral service was held at the home Sunday, May 15, conducted by Dr. O. E. Allison, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Baldwin. The address was made by Dr. M. G. Perry, an old time friend of the family. Interment was made in the Baldwin Cemetery.

Bridge Luncheon.

South side of Crawford avenue from Pittsburg street to Courier Place.

Railroad Labor Proposes McAdoo First, Then Smith

Saturday There may be a ballot or two before adjournment Saturday but the McAdoo forces will try to delay until Monday so a Sunday will not intervene to enable the unionists to penetrate the McAdoo line. The friends of John W. Davis are very hopeful now as the deadlock between the leaders grows more and more certain. In opposition to the idea that Mr. Davis was counsel for the Standard Oil Company comes the statement from his supporters that he has recently won for organized labor its biggest victory in the Supreme Court—a sign that he is merely a lawyer and not a partisan of either capital or labor.

The city is still talking of the demonstration for Al Smith and the remarkable nominating speech made by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The delegates are becoming convinced that Al Smith can carry New York if nominated. He did not have many states in the parade of banners but his champions are continuing to argue that a man who can carry New York can carry Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut.

It is significant that in the McAdoo demonstrations the West and South joined while the East made up the bulk of the Smith strength in the parade.

McAdoo and Smith still had the field and there is little evidence that either is losing ground, though the dark horses are still hoped for. The New York governor and former secretary of the treasury may kill each other off as Wood and Lowden at Chicago four years ago, which led to the nomination of Harding who had less than 50 ballots at the start. Anything may happen but the job of eliminating the two leaders has not yet been accomplished.

BROTHERHOOD OFFICIAL GIVES TANLAC CREDIT FOR RESTORING HEALTH

Oldest Member of B. R. T. South of Ohio Keeps Medicine in His Family Medicine Chest.

R. Walter Tripp, 321 Henley Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., legislative representative Brotherhood Railway Trainmen, and oldest member of the Brotherhood south of the Ohio River, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the medicine that has proved of such great benefit to him.

Mr. Tripp was formerly freight and passenger conductor on the Seaboard, W. & A., Southern and A. & W. P. He numbers his railroad friends by the score and is also a popular fraternal order man. Mr. Tripp has also served as assistant collector internal revenue, Northern district of Georgia, and is now a publisher and editor.

"I have not been without Tanlac in my medicine chest in 8 years," said Mr. Tripp, "but I have had two experiences with it that stand out especially in my history. Once when I came in from my run with my stomach all upset and my digestion just about wrecked, Tanlac proved effective and I began to swear by it. Again following an accident that kept me in bed for a long time and pulled me down to a mere shadow of myself, I turned to Tanlac and it built my weight right up and gave me back all the energy and strength I ever had."

"Not only has Tanlac helped me, but I know so many of the brother trainmen who have benefited by it that I often call Tanlac the railroad man's best friend."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 40 million bottles sold.

An occasional dose of
DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN
Keeps young girls fit

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now.

Safe for Young and Old Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, biliousness, sore and fever blisters, lack of energy and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion. A dose can be given in these conditions to any member of the family however young or old as Syrup Pepsin is a simple compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasing aromatics, and perfectly safe.

Public Recognizes Merit

You will quickly see the difference between a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and castor oil, or rough cathartics and physics. Syrup Pepsin acts gently and does not gripe. Increased doses are not necessary. A bottle can be had at any drug store, and a spoonful costs less than a cent. It has been successfully used for thirty years and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles having been sold in drug stores last year. Keep Syrup Pepsin in your medicine chest.

REFRIGERATORS

Any Housewife knows the amount of expense connected with the keeping of foodstuffs during the hot months. And—any housewife who has ever owned an Automatic knows the ease with which foodstuffs can be kept in it. The Automatic saves Food, Health, Ice and Money. It is the highest development of refrigeration and the performance more than proves this statement. Come and Make Your Choice Today.

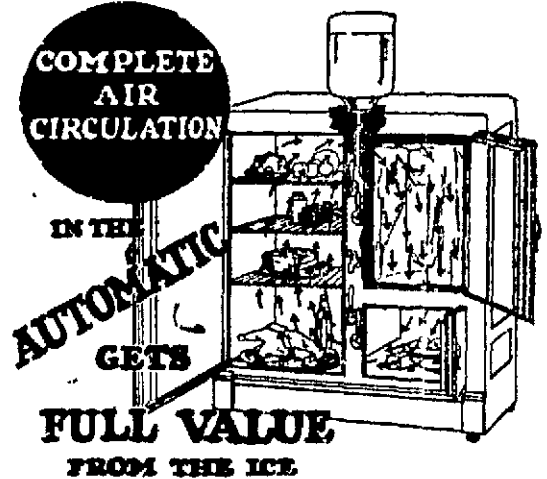

THIS MEANS ECONOMY

But noting the above illustration you can readily see the reason for the wonderful results obtained with the Automatic Refrigerator. The small arrows indicate the exact action of the air within the Automatic. The circulation is continuous and automatic.

Foodstuffs of all kinds may be kept safely in the Automatic for days at a time. It is the most economical refrigerator on ice. The special Water Cooling System shown in the "cut away" is standard equipment on all Automatics.

MOTHERS! Protect Your Babies From Disease

The value of care for the food your children must eat cannot be over estimated. Almost any disease may result from impurities in food which has not been properly kept. The Automatic has been proven the best refrigerator when it comes to the preservation of foodstuffs. It is perhaps not the most beautiful ice box on the market—but its eight-wall insulation and other features insure absolute safety during all kinds of weather.

Almost No Change in Coke Situation with Respect to Positions of the Interests

Furnace Ovens Curtail, Less Severely But Merchants Retain Leadership.

FEWER OVENS BLOWN OUT

By Former While Latter Fire Up 20 Additional; Signs Indicate Equilibrium Is Being Established, But Bottom May Not Yet Be Reached.

(From The Weekly Courier)

The coke situation is almost entirely without change from the week ended June 14, when the merchant surpassed the furnace ovens in point of production for the first time since the strike of 1921, a leadership which last week made even more secure for the merchants.

Practically the only difference noted last week was that the curtailment of furnace production was less severe than during the six days preceding. Then 5,600 tons were clipped off by this interest. The gain of 2,440 tons at merchant plants made the net reduction 7,160 tons. Last week the furnace cut was reduced to 1,190 tons while the merchants fell 130 tons behind their gain of the preceding week. The total reduction thus brought the regional output down to 74,300 tons.

Against 1,050 ovens blown out and 880 banked during the week ended June 14, the furnace interests blew out 100 and banked 700 last week. Of the 18 active plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, which with the exception of a single plant, comprise the running outfit of the furnace interests, four plants made six days, seven made four days, one three days and one two days.

At the same time the merchants added 20 ovens, as compared with 54 the week before. Their operating schedule averaged a trifle higher 14 plants making full time, eight five days, four four days and two three days.

The developments of the last week reveal certain signs that equilibrium is becoming established, or at least that the necessity for continuing drastic curtailment in production is becoming much less urgent. It is perhaps unsafe to make positive assertions on this point, but it can be noted that such is the sentiment prevailing in the region. While it is not impossible that still lower levels will be reached before a definite upward trend begins, it is regarded as probable that any further descent will be by slow and easy stages, not a precipitous drop or a succession of them, with which separation the region has had a series of decidedly unpleasant experiences of late.

As an alternative to a continuance of the former rate of restriction there is an undercurrent of opinion that so far as the merchant producers are concerned they have gone about as far as there will be occasion to go. Fluctuations, more or less slight, may be expected from week to week until the iron trade shifts into higher gear, but until that takes place there is little likelihood of very material change in operating conditions. A full summer has been a certainty for so long that the coke makers have very largely discounted its effects and have shaped things accordingly. It is noteworthy that in the corresponding week of 1923 the high tide of 204,730 tons in production was reached. By contrast last week's total is 232,420 tons behind. Stated differently it was but 2.4 per cent of the weekly maximum during 1923.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, June 21, was 74,300 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 34,740, a decrease of 1,300 tons; Lower Connellsville, 39,560, a decrease of 130 tons, or a total decrease of 1,430 tons, as compared with a net decrease of 7,160 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 35,390, a loss of 1,100 tons; merchant, 38,910, a loss of 120 tons, as compared with a loss of 8,600 and a gain of 2,440 tons respectively during the week ended June 14. The oven changes resulted in a net decrease of 30 in the active list, 100 having been blown out at furnace plants and a net gain of 20 having taken place at merchant plants. Production by the merchant and furnace interests and the total compared with the corresponding week in 1923 is shown herewith:

The Paramount

"RIDIN' DOUBLE"—Featuring Leo Maloney and the first chapter of "The Fast Express," a serial presenting William Duncan in the leading role, are the features today and tomorrow at the Paramount. The former attraction is an exciting human drama of western life in five parts and gives Mr. Maloney an opportunity to display his ability as an actor.

The thrilling rescue of a train from a huge rockslide forms one of the most dramatic thrills ever placed on the screen, as staged by William Duncan in his new Universal railroad feature.

Duncan directs and stars in the new chapterplay, appearing with Edith Johnson and a great cast, including Harry Woods, Albert J. Smith, Harry Carter and other well-known picture players.

The story was adapted from the famous novelette, "Crossed Wires," a railroad story by Courtney Riley Cooper, and as a screen play is replete with sensations.

The first chapter tells of the secret plotting surrounding the operation of the new railroad, Duncan, as its president, and Miss Johnson, as the telegraph operator, seek to forestall the plot behind inexplicable delays.

The Soisson

"THE SIN FLOOD," on view today and tomorrow at this theatre is a picture that lays bare the hypocrisy, jealousy and selfishness, a story that points out the glowing hope of mankind—love for one's fellowman. It is a great message for all to see. Richard Dix, Helene Chadwick and James Kirkwood appear in the leading roles.

The distinguished author, Henning Bergson, may have worked out the situation differently from the method you would have chosen, but as the drama is his highest achievement, no doubt about how dramatically he has done it.

Some persons might think that a hopelessly run down tramp wouldn't be stealing a drink at one of his last acts on earth. It's hard to tell about that sort of thing. It looks real enough in the screen version of Bergson's play which was adapted for the screen by J. G. Hawks, anyway.

After having made a name for himself, that the world was going to end, so far as they were concerned, with great abruptness, the characters—with the exception of the aforementioned tramp—all get repentant and make a clean breast of their shortcomings, sing hymns and go in heavily for brotherly love.

The Orpheum

"NOT A DRUM WAS HEARD"—Showing today and tomorrow at the Orpheum deals with partners in Duncan and Pythia Union.

Charles Jones, the bronco-beating screen star, has the leading role in this William Fox version of the story, "Not A Drum Was Heard," by Ben Ames Williams. Betty Bonton, the western girl with an eastern education, loved by two men who are inseparable companions, has one of the best, if not the greatest part of her enviable career.

The picture was directed by William Wellman, who deserves no little credit for his handling of the western atmosphere. He has caught the spirit of the plains that Williams wrote into his story and Jones, typical westerner that he is, carries it through.

Others in the cast who do excellent work are Frank Campana, Thedy Hothaway, Al Freeman, William Scott and Mickey McLean. The picture is without a dull moment. Its action will appeal to young and old and to them all, its story of a great friendship will present a worthwhile moral along with its entertainment.

Man Loses Hope

"For ten years I suffered severely from stomach trouble. The doctors said I had cancer of the stomach and nothing would do but an operation. I took my last round of May's Wonderful Remedy 2-3 years ago. Since then I sleep well, eat what I want and feel fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the intestinal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Dark Recovers Strength.
The following statement contained in a letter from Mrs. Alice Davis of Jamestown, N. Y. should bring hope to other women who are in the same condition she was. She says, "I was nervous and weak with pain in my back, no ambition, and utterly discouraged, and could not sit up all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength so I am now running a rooming house and do all the work." Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is pre-eminently successful in paying any suffering woman to try in overcoming such troubles.—Advertisement.

DIVADAS BREAK WINNING STREAK OF OLIVER TEAM

Tri-Town Twirler Nearly Realized Ambition of Every Moundsman.

ERRORS BRING SCORES

"Hats" Durbin just missed the gates that lead to the hall of fame last evening in breaking the winning streak of 10 consecutive games for the strong Oliver No. 3 outfit by a score of 8 to 2, letting them down without a single hit, in one of the best and fastest games of the season at Oliver. Errors accounted for the two runs, and kept "Hats," who pitched one of the best games he can ever recollect, from entering the hall of fame in the no-hit, no-run world.

The old pep and fighting punch that carried the colors of the Divada Independents to victory in numerous games proved to be too much for the Oliver team, who succumbed to the hypnotic "hooks and crooks" and the speedsters that were unleashed by Durbin's mighty right. "Hats" was exceptionally effective when men were on the paths, and he executed several thrilling plays. Ambrose, leading batsman for the Divadas and star outfielder, made a spectacular catch in the fourth inning when he robbed Tiasie of an extra base hit, after a hard run into the woods in deep center. The fans cheered "Flossy" although it meant defeat to their team. Silett made a circus catch in the ninth with two on and two out, robbing John Schoonage of an extra ancker. Silett leaped into the air after a hard run to deep left.

The Tough Valley team had its bats working throughout the game, coming through with 12 clean hits, including two extra anckers. Newell continued his batting rampage by swatting out two singles and a triple. John Schoonage aided with a single and a double, while Mosey Ambrose came out with two singles. McKnight and Whitkey were the only tri-town team members who did not get a safety. They aided brilliantly in the field. Frank Brown and McKnight executed a thrilling double play in the third inning that killed a threatened rally by the Oliver outfit.

"Vengeance is mine," quoted "Hats" Durbin when he walked off the field after the third man popped to McLaughlin in the last of the ninth. The Oliver outfit defeated Durbin at the Dickerson Run grounds in the first game by a 10 to 9 score.

The Divada Independent team will make its debut at Fayette Field Saturday evening, meeting the strong Divada team. The two teams have clashed twice, each earning a victory, and a good game is in store for the fans. The game will be called at 7:30 o'clock.

Mill Town Will Meet Grays Sat.

On Saturday afternoon at 3:15 Scottdale will again try conclusions with Posey's Homestead Grays, the second game of a four game series; the third of which will be played on July 19, and the fourth on August 30. In the first game, Scottdale was badly defeated, Layme's and Picard's twisters being hit rather freely. For the second game Scottdale will have Leo Carroll, the Connellsville Iron Man in the box; with Gutshall, the Morgantown Collingins, in reserve. Both, the Pitt student, will again be seen in middle field. A new clever fielder and heavy hitter will cover right field. Posey will be without the services of John Backwith, the all around negro athlete, and also Darknight Smith, but will have instead with him a battery obtained recently from the Negro League. Scottdale having recently defeated Beaver Falls and Morgantown, has high hopes of trimming the Grays this time. With hitting by Carroll, fast infielding, and heavy hitting by Smith, Kopf and Giesle, the locals have evidently reached their stride and from now on should hit the trail they blazed in 1933, when, with Westwick pitching, all clubs bowed the knee to the "thirteen wonders" as they were then called.

LEISNERING NO. 3 WINS OVER JUNIATA

Leisnering No. 3 walloped the strong Juniata team last evening at Juniata by a 11 to 2 score. Kennison, on the mound for Leisnering, let the Juniata team down with four safeties. He was accorded effortless support. The Leisnering outfit hit Leighty at will. A batting rally in the second inning netted seven markers for the Leisnerians and two additional runs were chalked up in the fifth and seventh. Juniata scored its two runs in the third inning.

Surgeons, Physicians, Dentists Use Wonderful New Antiseptic

We are calling the attention of the good people of Connellsville and vicinity to Kojeke, the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating antiseptic known.

In this newspaper we will continue to tell the people, and especially the ailing people, to whom Kojeke will prove a blessing, just exactly what physical ills it will help, and in spite of our enthusiasm for this wonderful antiseptic will stick to the truth in every statement we make.

We will not exaggerate—although some of the things we write may seem exaggerated.

Nothing equals Kojeke for irrigation of the nostrils; for Pyorrhea and Gingivitis; for Stomatitis, Trench Mouth, pus pockets and all cases of infection.

Kojeke, as we will tell more people who need it, is four times as powerful as an antiseptic than Carbolic Acid. It is much more powerful than poisonous bichloride of mercury, and will not burn or even irritate the tenderest membrane.

We will tell the readers of this paper of its wonderful and quickly effective action in tonsillitis and sore throat; of how completely it drives out the offensive mucus of catarrh and thoroughly cleans the entire nasal tract.

We will tell them of its remarkable success in the treatment of cankers in the mouth and how quickly it succeeds when used for eczema, itching skin, ulcers, boils and skin eruptions.

And last but by no means least, we will tell them that as a germ destroyer, mouth wash it is as far ahead of the highly favored and bubbling kind as daylight is to candlelight and has no noisy, disagreeable taste.

It is seventy-five times as powerful as the weak kinds whose popularity seems to lie in their weakness and the ignorance of those who use them.

A sixty cent bottle (6 ounces) of Kojeke, will make one-half gallon of a stronger, better and more efficient mouth wash than the high priced doubtful ones you buy ready made.

Medical men like to join in any effort to drive miasmatic poisons from the home and give their support to any great and worthy preparation that destroys pernicious germs and helps humanity—that is just what Kojeke does.

In six ounce bottles at Union Drug Co and every progressive druggist in America 60c with the understanding that money will be refunded if any purchaser is dissatisfied. Complete and simple directions for treating various ailments with each bottle—Advertisement.

DUNBAR TEAM AND DIVADAS TO CLASH HERE ON SATURDAY

The strong Dunbar Independents will clash with the Divada Independents at Fayette Field Saturday afternoon in a special attraction that will be played for the benefit of the St. Rita's Italian Catholic Church in helping the church celebrate the anniversary of St. John the Baptist. The game will be called at 4:30 o'clock. Both teams willingly donated their services and agreed to clash at Fayette Field, in an "eleventh hour" scheduled game.

This will be the third game between the two teams. The Divada Independents won the first game at the Dickerson Run grounds and lost to the Furnace town team at Dunbar. Both contingents are out for blood, endeavoring to keep ahead in the inter-town series. The line-up of either team is uncertain as several large switches will be made by both teams.

Smithfield was scheduled but was cancelled when a larger guarantee was asked for.

The Divadas have encountered a second slump but expect to hit their stride.

"I have to take little steps and to keep in well-worn paths. I can't make laws for myself as you do. Those that have been made may be wrong, but I must obey them."

"Why? Why should you? If they're wrong, fight against them."

"I can't argue with you . . . dear. But I know what I think right. I want to think as you do. Oh, you don't know how I long to throw my Puritan conscience overboard and just trust your judgment. I . . . admire you tremendously. But I can't give in . . . I can't."

The muscles stood out on his lean cheeks as he set his teeth. "You've got to, Moya. Our love has been fore-ordained. Do you think it is for nothing that we met again after all these years? You're mine—the one woman in the world I want and am going to have."

She shook her head sadly. "No . . . no!"

"Is it the money I have made high-grading? Is that what stands between us? If I were able to come to you without a dollar but with clean hands—would you marry me then?"

He leaned toward her, eager, ardent, passionate, the color in his cheeks burning to a dull brick that beneath the tan. Body and soul she turned toward him. All her vital love of life, of things beautiful and good and true, fused in a crescendo of emotion.

"My dear . . . my dear, I'm only a girl—and I love you!" Somehow her hands were buried in the strong grip of his. "But . . . I can't live on the profits of what I think is wrong. If it weren't for that . . . Jack, I'd marry you if you were a pauper—and thank God for the chance."

He faced her doggedly. "I'm not a pauper. I've fought for my share of the spoils. You've been brought up in a hot-house. Out in the world a man wins because he's strong. Do you think it's all been play with me? By God, no! I've ridden night and day in a blizzard when the temperature was below zero. I've done my shift on the twelfth level of the Never Quit mine a month. I've mushed in Alaska and fought against Castro in Venezuela. Do you think I'm going to give up my stake now I've won it at last?"

She looked at him tremulously. "I don't ask you to give it up. You'll have to decide that for yourself."

"Don't you see I can't give it up? If I do, I lose you. How can I take care of you without money?"

"I'll do my best, Jack."

"You don't understand. It would be for years—until I had made another start. I wouldn't let you give up everything unless I had something to offer. I wouldn't consider it."

"Isn't that putting pride before love, Jack? You know I have a little money of my own. We could live—in very five thousand a year to clothe you. That is nearly twice as much as I'll earn altogether next year if I throw away my stake."

She waved his argument aside. "Stupid boy! I have dresses enough to last me for five years—if you'll let me be that poor man's wife. I can make them over myself later and still be the best-dressed woman in camp."

From above came Captain Kilmeny's shout. "We telephoned down. The engineer has the trouble arranged."

The cable began to move.

"When shall I see you alone, Moya?" Jack demanded.

"I don't know."

"I'm going to see you. We've got to fight this out. I'll not let Lady Farquhar keep me from seeing you alone. It's serious business."

"Yes," she admitted. "I'll tell Lady Jim. But . . . there's no use in letting you think I'll give up, I can't."

"You've got to give up. That's all there is to it." His jaw was set like a vice.

The party above fell upon them as they landed.

"Were you frightened, Moya?" exclaimed Joyce above the chorus of questions.

"Just for a moment," Moya did not look at Jack. "Mr. Kilmeny told me it would be all right."

Jack's eyes danced. "I told her we would work out of the difficulty if she would trust me."

Moya blushed. It happened that Captain Kilmeny was looking directly at her when his cousin spoke.

CHAPTER XVIII

Homing Hearts

Jack Kilmeny had not been brought up in the dry sunbaked West for nothing. The winds of the Rockies had entered into his character as well as into his physique. He was a willful man, with a good deal of granite in his make-up. A fighter from his youth, he did not find it easy to yield the point upon which he differed from Moya. There was in her so much of impulsive generosity that he had expected to overpower her scruples. But she stood like a rock planted in the soil.

It came to him as he walked home after a long fight with her that in his heart he did not want her to yield.

She was the Moya Dwight he loved because she would not compromise with her conviction. Yet, though he wanted her to stand firm, he hated the thought of giving way himself. It galled his pride that he must come to her without a penny, knowing that she had the means to keep them both modestly. Nor could he, without a pang, think of surrendering the twenty-eight thousand dollars he had fought for and won. He was no visionary. The value of money he understood perfectly. It stood for power, place, honor, the things that were worth having. Given what he had, Jack knew he could double it in Goldbanks within the year. There were legitimate opportunities for investment that were bound to make rich returns. But without a dollar he would be like Hansen shorn of his locks.

All through the night he was joined in battle with himself, but when at early dawn he stood on the top of Boneda-Gua Hill and faced a shy faintly pink with the warming of a coming sun his decision had been made.

On his way back he met Moya and Miss Seldon. Joyce pounced upon him with a grievance.

"You haven't told me yet how much you're going to give for the new hospital, Mr. Kilmeny. You know we're leaving tomorrow, and you'll have to decide at once. Be generous, please. You said yourself it was a good cause."

He nodded agreement. "The most worthy charity I know. I've often wondered why some Andrew Carnegies didn't set the fashion of endowing hospitals by wholesale. They ought to be free to all poor folks out of health. When a man is losing his wages and his family is scraping he ought not to be facing a thirty-dollar-a-week hospital charge. Yes, I'm for the new hospital, Miss Seldon."

decent poverty. I would love to feel that we were fighting . . . together. We both know you'll win in the end. Wouldn't it be due to work out your success in partnership? Dear, I'd rather marry you while you're still a poor soul."

For a moment the vision of it tempted him, but he put the dream away. "No. It won't do. Of course I'm going to win out in the end, but it might take a dozen years to see me on Broadway. For a woman brought up as you have been poverty is hell."

"Then you think I'm only a doll," she laughed. "You want to put me back in that hot-house you mentioned. I'm just an ornament to dress up and look at and play with."

"I think you're a little tinier-her," he said, smiling ruefully.

"Don't you see how it is with me, Jack? I've always craved life. I've wanted to take hold of it with both hands and without gloves. But they would never let me. I've got my chance now . . . if you really love me more than you do your pride and your money. I want to live close to the people—as you do."

"What did that suit cost you?" he asked abruptly.

"Don't remember. Twenty-five pounds, maybe. Why?"

"One hundred twenty dollars, say. And you need dozens of dresses in a season. I'll make a guess that it takes
